

Bulawayo Projects Centre is adding a new course to its popular vocational education program:

Urban Agriculture

The course covers a wide range of agricultural activities such as:

- Vegetables
- Fruits
- Herbs and spices
- Flowers, including cut-flowers for the market
- Indigenous trees
- Succulent plants that don't require much water
- Animal husbandry

Launch of the new Urban Agriculture course in Cowdray Park, combining theory and practise

The course will run for a full calendar year to cover four seasons; the first part takes 3 weeks (3 days per week), followed by a second 3-week session, and one day per month thereafter.

Promotional course fee: $5 per week

Garlic

The courses are conducted at three locations:
BPC Cowdray Park, BPC Thorngrove and BPC Nketa.
Model gardens are being established at these locations to facilitate the practical aspects of the training

Growing crops in containers, for example turmeric

Ginger

Strawberries

Cape gooseberry

Stevia (sugar substitute)

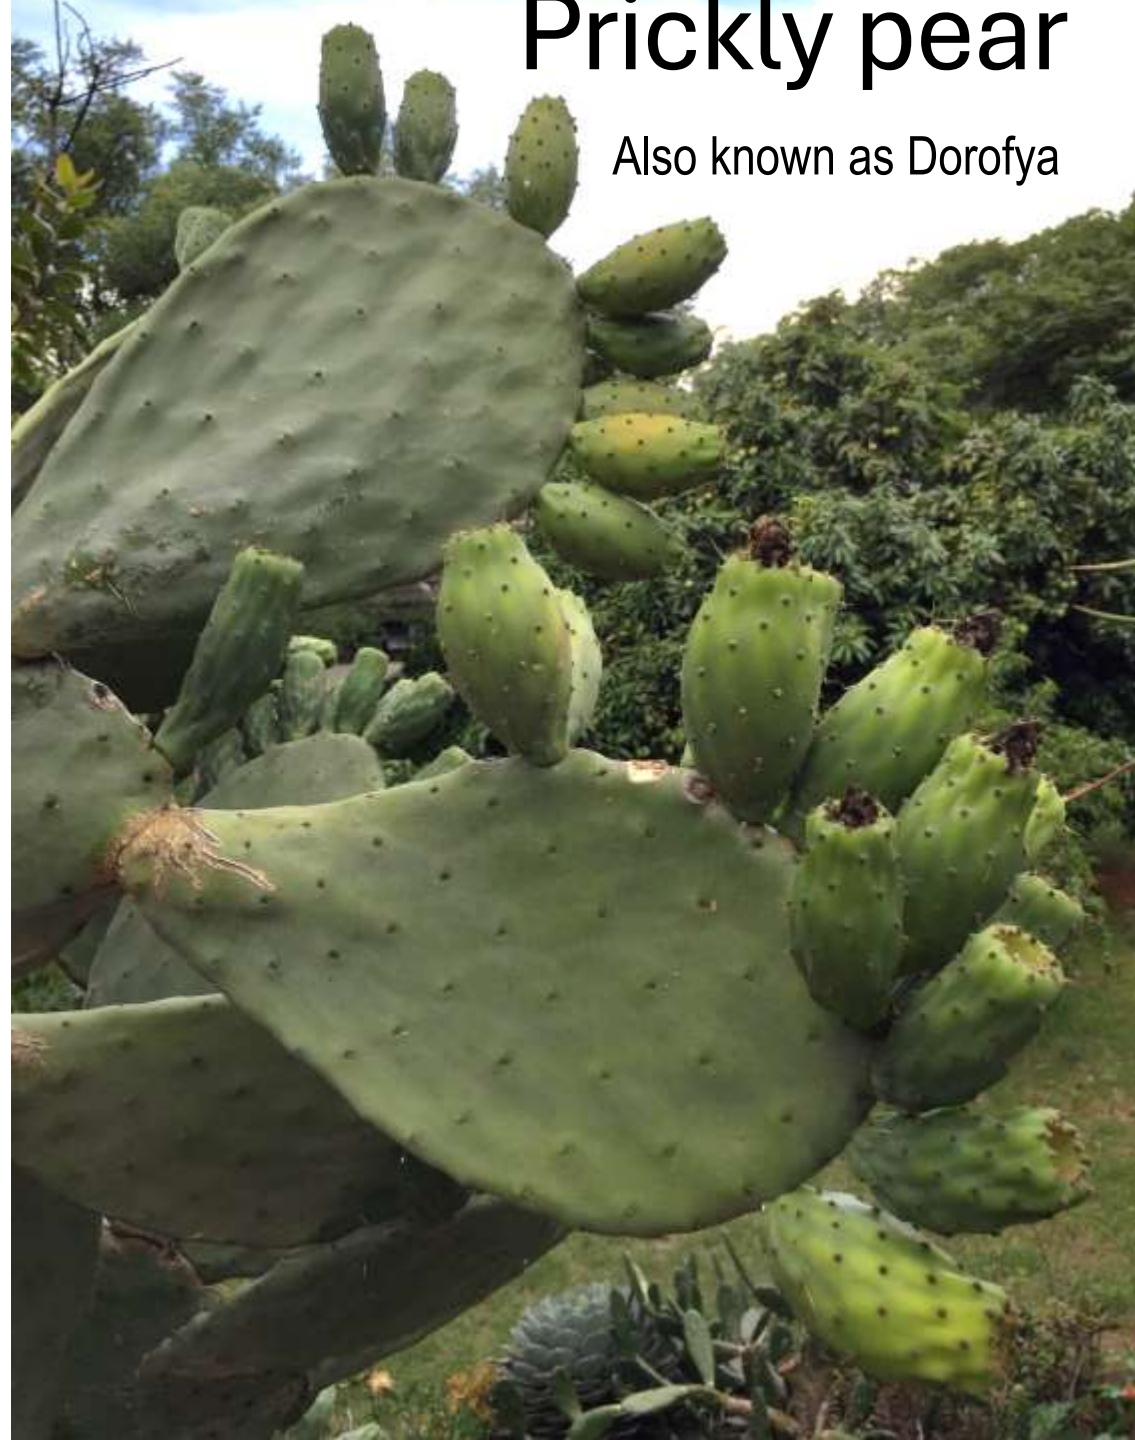

This course is meant especially for young people, who are already involved in agricultural activities, but unemployed youths are also encouraged to register.

Dragon fruit

Prickly pear

Also known as Dorofya

Animal husbandry: layers and rabbits

Flowers for the cut flower market

Testing new sweet potato varieties

